POOLS & LANDSCAPES

Design. Build. Maintain.

What Every Homeowner Struggles With (Before & After the Backyard Build)

After 20 years of building high-end backyard courts, we have seen the same problems come up over and over again—whether it's a pool, landscaping, or a full backyard transformation.

These aren't one-off issues... they're predictable.

1 Cost (Biggest Concern)

"Why are bids so different... and what am I actually getting?"

Most homeowners get multiple bids—and it's confusing. Pricing can vary dramatically, and it's nearly impossible to compare apples to apples if you're not in the industry.

This leads to second-guessing, stress, and fear of making the wrong decision.

2 Choosing the Right Company

"Who can I actually trust to do this right?"

Between flashy marketing, low bids, and big promises, it's hard to know who will actually deliver quality—and who won't.

The risk feels high... because it is.

3 Lack of Communication

"Why can't anyone just keep me updated?"

This is one of the biggest frustrations homeowners talk about. Delays happen—but silence is what creates anxiety.

You're left wondering what's going on with your own project.

4 Project Delays

"Why is this taking so long?"

Timelines slip. Crews don't show up. Projects drag out longer than expected.

What should be exciting becomes frustrating.

5 Managing Multiple Contractors

"Why do I have to coordinate everything myself?"

Pool builder, landscaper, electrician, concrete, fencing... it adds up fast.

Homeowners don't want to be the project manager—they want one company to handle it all.

6 Design + Big Picture Vision

"How do I know it's all going to come together?"

Most companies focus on their piece—not the full backyard experience.

You're left hoping everything ties together in the end.

7 What Happens After It's Built?

"Who takes care of this long-term?"

It's not just about using products that are built to last (especially in a 100°+ desert climate)...

it's about having a partner after the project is complete.

Maintenance, service, and long-term care are almost always an afterthought—but they shouldn't be.

This Isn't Just a Project—It's Where Memories Are Made

Your backyard isn't just another job.

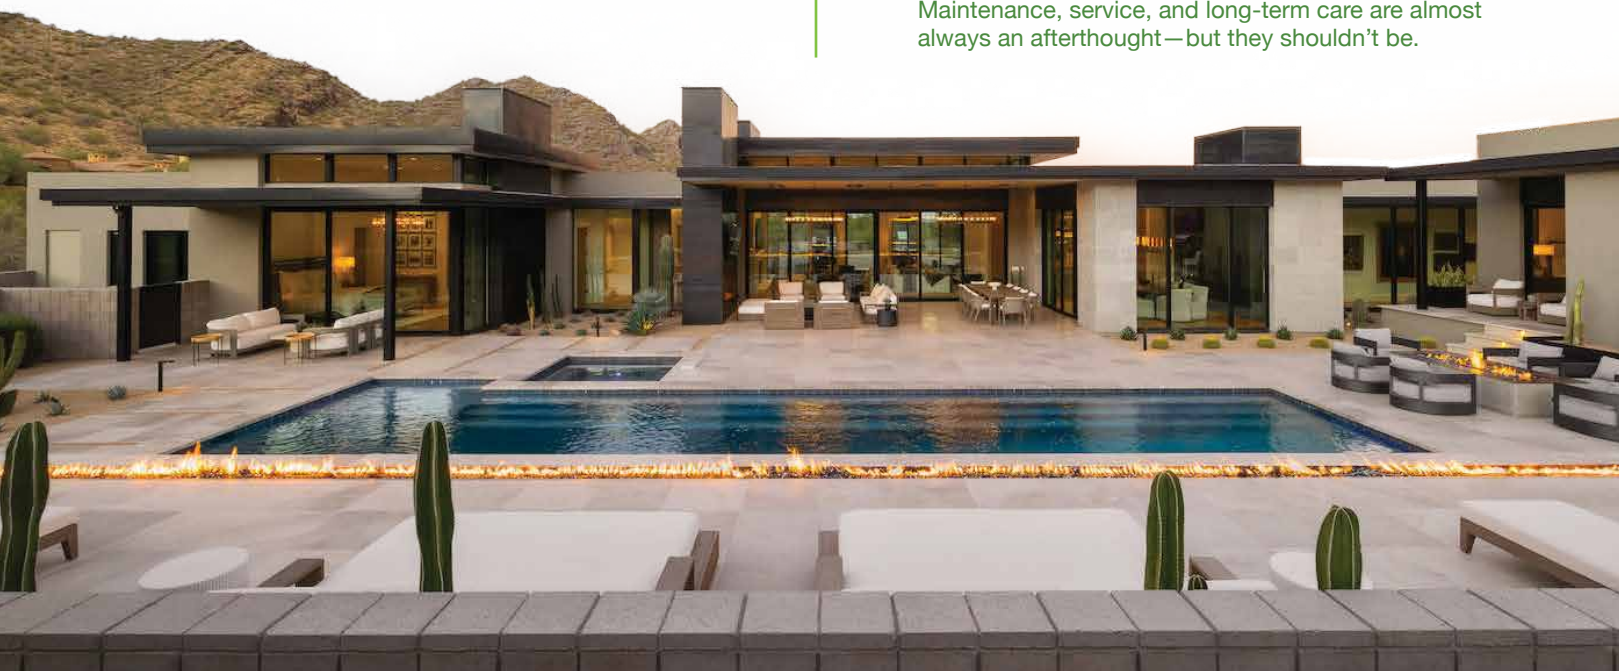

It's where your family gathers, where friends come over, where life happens.

And it should be done right—from the first design... to the final build... to the years that follow.

Visualizing the Backyard Before Construction Begins

A successful project begins with clear planning and visualization.

Our design team uses detailed layouts and 3D renderings to help homeowners see their backyard before the first shovel enters the ground.

This process allows for thoughtful decision-making around:

- Pool shape and positioning
- Material and finish selections
- Elevation changes and retaining walls
- Plant palettes and landscape layering
- Fire and water features
- Outdoor kitchens and lounge areas
- Lighting and ambiance

By designing everything together from the beginning, we minimize costly changes, reduce construction surprises, and create a more cohesive final result.

Designing the Entire Backyard Experience

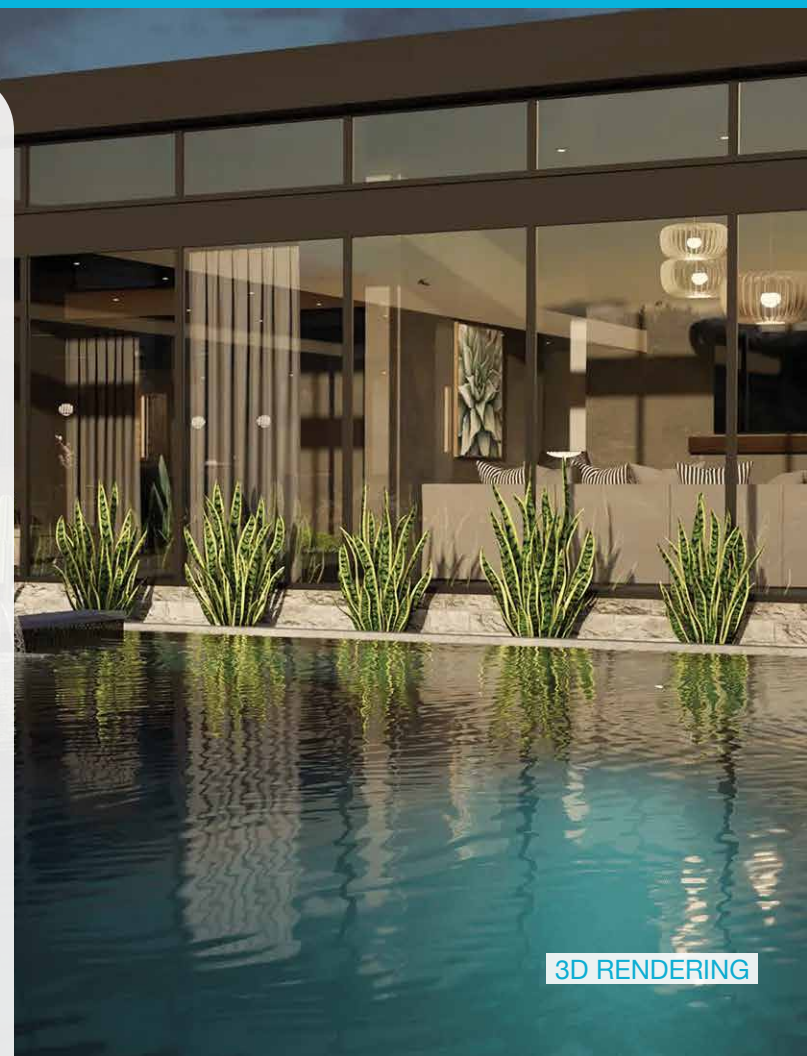

The best outdoor spaces begin long before construction starts. They begin with vision.

At Legendary Pools & Landscapes, design is not limited to a pool layout or plant selection—it is the planning of an entire outdoor experience. Every backyard is carefully considered to ensure flow, balance, comfort, and visual harmony.

Our design process focuses on how every feature works together:

- Pool placement and orientation
- Outdoor living zones
- Shade and entertainment spaces
- Landscaping and plant selection
- Hardscape transitions and pathways
- Lighting integration
- Sightlines from inside the home

We create outdoor environments that feel intentional and connected, ensuring every square foot contributes to the overall experience.

A pool should not only look beautiful on day one—it should continue performing for years to come.

Our fabrication process emphasizes quality materials, structural integrity, and professional installation.

Every detail is carefully managed, including:

Because desert climates demand durability, we build pools designed to withstand heat, UV exposure, and long-term wear.

Structure, Flow & Functionality

Hardscape creates the framework that ties the backyard together.

These elements guide movement, define gathering spaces, and establish the structure of the outdoor environment.

Our hardscape services include:

- Paver patios and pathways
- Decorative concrete finishes
- Retaining walls and terracing
- Pool decking and transitions
- Courtyard spaces
- Elevated seating areas
- Outdoor steps and grade changes
- Stone and architectural accents

Hardscape should feel integrated—not separate from the landscape itself.

A Legacy Built in Backyards

20+ Years Building Outdoor Spaces

For more than two decades, Legendary founder Miles Reynolds has worked in luxury backyards across Las Vegas and beyond helping homeowners create outdoor spaces designed for gathering, recreation, and lasting memories.

While designing and building custom backyard courts for high-end homes, Miles collaborated with the region's best architects, landscapers, pool builders, and outdoor living specialists. Through those experiences, he gained a unique perspective into what makes a backyard project successful—and where many projects fall apart.

Let's be honest-this industry is broken. Homeowners are forced to navigate confusing and inconsistent pricing, poor communication, and a revolving door of contractors with little accountability. Timelines drag, trades don't coordinate, and bids are all over the place-making it nearly impossible to know what you're actually getting or who you can trust. What should be an exciting transformation of your backyard turns into a stressful guessing game, where too many homeowners are left hoping it all comes together instead of knowing it will.

Legendary Pools & Landscapes was created to solve those challenges.

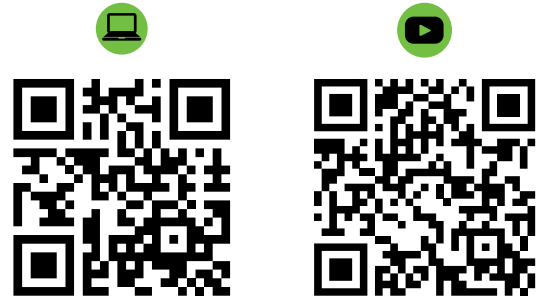

Instead of homeowners managing multiple vendors and moving parts, Legendary brings together a carefully assembled "Backyard Dream Team" under one company. From concept to completion, every element is coordinated to create a seamless experience and a finished backyard that feels intentional, elevated, and complete.
